

XoomConnect, accelerating and simplifying the integration between your Procurement tools and financial systems

Need to integrate your Procurement Platform into your ERP but not sure how?

Your financial systems are the backbone of your business and integrating Procurement Technology into these systems can be a real headache if you don't have the right strategy, experience and tools. That's where XoomConnect comes in.

What is XoomConnect?

Developed by Xoomworks, XoomConnect accelerates and simplifies the technical integration between your Procurement tools and financial systems, saving you time and money through implementation and lowering ongoing maintenance costs.

With XoomConnect we can accelerate the integration of the systems in your portfolio by as much as 50%, much faster and less costly than having to engage a third party to provide your integration. Using XoomConnect and integration experts from Xoomworks we can integrate with virtually any ERP, ensuring you're up and running quickly and making the most out of your technology investment.

How it works

XoomConnect saves you time and money by replacing or working alongside your existing middleware and leveraging our pre-built adapters and configurations for many ERP's.

XoomConnect provides three modular layers to ensure you get value-added integration:

XoomConfig provides template configurations for your procurement tools in the form of blueprints pre-built with the financial and organisational data models for many of the common ERPs.

XoomControl provides a management layer to administer the connected systems in your environment, including the mapping of data, scheduling of master and transactional data integrations and error handling tools.

XoomERP provides a pre-built plugin installed on your ERP instance to retrieve the required master data and post business transactions.

XoomConnect supports integration build acceleration for the most common ERP's, and will work with any ERP able to integrate via web services meaning you don't have to build connections from scratch using expensive internal or 3rd party resources.

Key benefits

Saves time and money: by reducing integration effort. It typically cuts integration effort and costs by over 50%

Reduces risk by using a proven solution: Integrating the different systems in your landscape as part of a procurement technology implementation can be time consuming and expensive. It is also the most common phase of a project that results in delays. XoomConnect mitigates that risk by using a tried and tested solution.

ERP independent: XoomConnect works with many ERP's including the latest technologies such as SAP S/4 HANA

Use only what you need: XoomConnect is modular (P2P config, middleware, ERP-side), so we can advise you on selecting the elements you really need

Speeds up implementation: As procurement specialists we are experienced in Procurement Technology and Systems Integration and can advise on the best solution that fits your requirements.

Continuous upgrading, maintenance and support: Because XoomConnect is hosted in the cloud, it is updated and tested for new technology releases from software vendors, keeping your systems working seamlessly and meaning you don't have to worry.

Why Xoomworks and XoomConnect?

Xoomworks has been implementing and integrating procurement solutions into businesses for years. This means we understand very clearly where you are likely to face the biggest challenges and impacts on your projects.

Every business has a different technical landscape, different finance systems and different technical skillsets, but that doesn't mean the integration journey needs to start from a clean sheet of paper.

Using our integration experience from many successful projects we have developed the XoomConnect platform to accelerate and simplify integration between your chosen procurement tools and your ERP systems.

About Xoomworks

Xoomworks is a niche consultancy and outsourcing company that specialises in procurement. Based in UK and Europe, we are a team comprised of technical, business and behavioural consultants, and senior procurement experts. Our complete procurement proposition addresses both the mechanics and behaviours of procurement that drive the greatest value for organisations.